

Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d:

The use of email is now much more popular than postal mail. Most computer users have email accounts for some time and they often find unwanted emails in their inboxes. These emails that are advertisements are called spam. Thousands of them are travelling across the internet. But how do the spammers get our email addresses? They can be sent if you have ever given your address to an online shop or service. But how can you stop it? If you buy things on the internet, use a separate email account for shopping. You should also install a program that stops spam. Software companies have been trying to stop spam for years and they have created new programs to stop it.
